

Fact Sheet

Our Origin

A24 was founded in 2012 by Daniel Katz, David Fenkel and John Hodges. The three of them worked on film production and started A24 to promote “movies from a distinctive point of view.”

Our Point of View

Our original vision was to favor artistic freedom, authenticity, and even risk -- the sort of ideas that major Hollywood studios would not touch.

Our Name

Our name was inspired by the Autostrada A24 highway in Italy, which is the location of many classic Italian films. As the legend goes, Daniel Katz was driving down the motorway when he came up with the idea for the company.

Our Headquarters

Our headquarters are located in New York City, but we have another location in Los Angeles, California.
